QUARTERLY MEETING OF THE EX- for it. ECUTIVE COMMITTEE HELD.

An Effort to Increase the Endowmen Fund-Talk of State Athletic Meet.

The executive committee of the Indiana Young Men's Christian Association met here yesterday and last night. Those present were: John F. Wallick, Indianapolis, chairman; Samuel O. Pickens, Indianapolis, vice chairman; C. S. Rhoads, Indianapolis, recording secretary; O. M. Gregg, Crawfordsville; H. P. Townley, Terre Haute; C. A. Waldo, Lafayette; G. L. Reeves, Columbus; A. M. Glossbrenner, Indianapolis; H. F. Bickell, Indianapolis; E. H. Ferree, Marion; E. M. Campbell, Indianapolis, treasurer; E. E. Stacy, Indianapolis, state secretary, and G. M. Wells, assistant state secretary.

The committee first discussed the State athletic meet held at Terre Haute last summer, and it may be decided to hold annual State meets. The standing committee made a report through its chairman, H. P. Townley, who reported the recent addition of a $1,000 endowment life insurance policy, contributed by a Terre Haute business man. He said this brought the fund to $3,000, and efforts will be made to raise it to $100,000.

Chairman Glossbrenner, of the finance committee, reported that the committee will have to raise $1,000 to meet the expenses of the fiscal year ending this month. H. F. Bickell, chairman of the committee on reorganization of the State forces, orted that the vacancy caused by the transfer of M. A. Hollabaugh be not filled for the present. He said the committee on State and provincial organization will work out a plan of effective organization of the State force.

its chairman, C. S. Rhoads. He said all the Indiana Railroad Associations will be represented at the International Conferin Philadelphia, Oct. 11 to 14. He said the unorganized fields will be represented by two Wabash employes from Peru; two road employes from Huntington, and two Air-line employes from Princeton. He also reported that there is a plan at Washington, Ind., to organize an association among the B. & O. S. W. employes. The executive committee decided to hold the next State convention at New Albany the latter part of next month on dates to satisfy the local association. South Bend and Marion also wanted the State vention. The committee reported that $600 had been paid by Indiana associations of the Indiana State force, and now national secretary of Japan. The committee appointed N. W. Benning railroad secretary at Logansport.

S. O. Pickens made a favorable report on his visit to Lake Geneva, Wis., and he urged that more delegates attend the encampment at that place each year. This may be done, and it will take the place of the State summer encampments. The executive committee received the resignation of R. C. Brooks, of New Alany, who has moved to Philadelphia. and W. J. Lewis, of Evansville, who has moved to Birmingham, Ala. The chairman will appoint adequate Indiana representatives for the meeting of the American Association, at Boston, in 1901. The committee adjourned at 11 o'clock to meet

GREAT PREPARATIONS BEING MADE FOR GOVERNOR ROOSEVELT.

Big Street Demonstration Will Be Given in Honor of Vice Presidential Candidate.

THE SPANISH WAR VETERANS

WILL BE ONE OF THE MAIN FEA-TURES OF THE PARADE.

He Will Deliver His Address from th Courthouse Yard-Political News of Interest.

Col. Harry B. Smith and his adjutant general, George W. Powell, both appointed to arrange for the reception of Governor Roosevelt in this city next Thursday, and to have charge of the parade next Thursday night, are, in conjunction with the officers of the county committee, completing the details of the demonstration as rapidly as possible. Colonel Smith made the statement yesterday that he believed the Roosevelt demonstration would be a monster one, and perhaps the biggest political event ever held in Indianapolis.

A large number of committees are to be appointed. Colonel Smith announces that chairmen of committees have thus far been appointed as follows: Committee on transparencies and printing, Cass Connaway; carriages, Horace Wood; music, C. E. Thornton; lights and decorations, Thomas E. Potter. The list is only partially complete. The chairmen will appoint the members of their committees. Since the exact time of Governor Roosevelt's arrival is known arrangements are being made for his reception, and the meeting to be held in the courthouse yard, which he will address. It is the plan to have the special train on which the Governor and party will arrive stop at Southeastern avenue. The train will arrive from Richmond over the Panhandle road about 4 o'clock in the afternoon. The party will be escorted from the Southeastern-avenue crossing to the stand to be erected in the northwest corner of the courthouse yard. In addition to the reception committee that will meet the train there will be an escort guard which will be led by the Indianapolis Military Band of forty pieces and a drum and bugle corps of fifty pieces. There will be no attempt at a parade in the afternoon. The Governor will simply be escorted to the stand, where he is to speak. His train will remain here until the following morning, and the street demonstration to be given in his honor Thursday night will be a big one, according to the plans of those who are arranging HAMILTON COUNTY DELEGATION. Dr. E. C. Loehr, of Noblesville, was in the city yesterday conferring with Colonel Smith about a delegation that Hamilton ccunty will send to join the procession. Dr. Loehr wondered if it would be advisable to bring his "shotgun squad," which he said he could increase from twenty-five to one hundred men. On the occasion of Atterney general Taylor's meeting at Noblesville this week, Dr. Loehr's "shotgun" squad awakened the echoes of the town on the arrival of the special train from Indianapolis. The noise was so successful n Noblesville that the doctor wondered how it would work here. It was decided before he left that the shotgun feature would perhaps be best left out of the emonstration on account of the likelihood of frightening horses that might be in the street. An effort will be made to have special train run from Noblesville, ar riving here about 7 o'clock on Thursday evening. A marching club of three hundred is promised from Hamilton county Noblesville is one of the towns through which the Roosevelt train will not pass and the people of the county are anxious to see the Governor.

Colonel Smith has received a communica tion from the Cannon Escort Club, of Danville, Ill., announcing that if the Big Four will make a rate to suit the people, Danville will send a crowd of five hundred.

A BIG FEATURE. One of the principal features of the parade will be a large representation of the soldiers who participated in the Spanish American war. the Country from Democratic Sources-Address in Full.

An address prepared by the executive committee of the National Democracy explaining the position of the Gold Democrats in this campaign and warning them against the heresies of William J. Bryan was last night given to the public. The address is signed by Charles Tracey, chairman, L. M. Martin, chairman campaign committee, and John P. Frenzel, secretary of the national organization. Following is the full text of the address:

"Four years ago your patriotic position saved the country from the peril of Mr. Bryan's election. You were not deceived by the plea of regularity in his nomination. You saw him truly as the nominee of a combination which had taken your party name to gild principles unknown to

In your national convention at Indianapolis you declared that you had 'assembled to uphold and welfare of the American people, in order that Democrats throughout the Union may unite their patriotic efforts to avert disaster from their country and ruin from their party.' That convention said that defeats, but could not survive victory won in behalf of the doctrine and policy proclaimed in its name at Chicago.'

well, in the hope that there would be no further attempt to use your party name vocated by Mr. Bryan. In his defeat his misled supporters were admonished and chastened to an extent which turned them them. The Kansas City convention was averse to reaffirmation of the Chicago platform, and a majority of its delegates honestly hoped to purge the party of the vicious heresies which had lost it the respect and confidence of the country. But through the power of his organization, and by reason of the hope of success born in prior nomination by the Populists, Mr. Bryan prevailed against the better sense the convention, compelled indorsement of the false doctrines of 1896, and by the votes of Alaska and Hawaii forced the specific restatement of his dangerous and destructive financial theory. He stands now, therefore, for all he advocated in 1896 and, accepting the Populist nomination has added thereto his declaration in favor of an unlimited issue of greenback cur-

The Care of Shade Trees on Lawns Under Consideration.

At the meeting of the Indianapolis Audubon Society last night the tree committee reported that it had communicated with a number of cities in various parts of the United States regarding the laws in reference to caring for shade trees on the lawns skirting the streets of their cities, and had received answers from Columbus, Cleveland, Detroit, Boston, Buffalo and St. Louis and a copy of the local acts for the government of parks and boulevards of Detroit. Not one of the cities named has a law governing the care of trees on the lawns. The committee recommended that the letters and laws be referred to the city attorney with suggestions as to the necessary amendments to the city charter, and that he be requested to prepare and submit the same to the next session of the General Assembly. It was resolved that the report be referred back to the committee with power to act and to consult with and secure the services of other attorneys to assist the city attorney in pre-paring the bill contemplated, and that other societies of the city and citizens of the city interested in the matter be united to assist in preparing the bill and secur-

McPherson of nature. Pupils attending Shortridge and John J. Appel. The capital stock is High School have already received notification that their text-book on physics is misleading in one of its most fundamental statements of principles, namely, that the same body cannot be in two places at the same time. Nature has reversed one of her most inflexible laws and physics has been proven a lying jade, for has not W. R Hearst demonstrated that he can with perfect ease be in Chicago and Indianapolis at one and the same moment? Wednesday afternoon, while he was lying ill in a palatial dwelling skirting one of Chicago's most fashionable boulevards, attended by whispering menials, shod with felt slippers, he was also passing in triumph through the massave iron gates of the Indianapolis Union Station, indulgenty bowing and smiling in blase recognition of the plaudits of the multitude of inhabitants and visitors. Nay, more, the exact size of the mighty multitude which hailed the advent of this magician of the waning nineteenth century is known. FIGURES GIVEN According to the veracious Chicago American, which is the eloquent mouthpiece of Mr. Hearst when he feels too weary to use the one nature has given him, the great man was met at the train in Indianapolis "by all the city's inhabitants and her 30,00 visitors." The last census gives Indianapolis a population of 169,000 and a few odd hundreds, which, added to the paltry 30,000 who chanced to drop in that day, forms a dazzling total of 199,000 people who incurred the danger of bronchitis in shouting ac-claims to the "master mind of American

Mr. Hearst has shown that he also pos sesses the Godlike attribute of charity, since he allowed his presidential candidate, Mr. William Brennings Jyan (with apologies to Webster Davis) to be welcomed by multitude also. Of course, Mr. Jyan's throng was not nearly so great as that afforded resting Diaces for 10,000 Det who were possessed of a desire to see the gentleman whom Mr. Hearst is going to elect President of the United States. Another act of notable generosity upon Mr. Hearst's part was his gracious permission extended to the aforesaid 30,000 visitors to form a part of the Jyan welcoming host It seems a pity that the remaining 129,000 people who were in this city Thursday were denied the inestimable privilege of giving the glad hand to the facile juggler of the Bible and Abraham Lincoln's speeches. It is a sad duty which compels one to descend from such fascinating flights into the realms of higher mathematics to the commonplace task of handling figures running only into miserable hundreds or thousands. The Indianapolis Journal, however, is unfortunately held in check by the laws of nature and the infirmities of human vision. It is unable to see things as they are seen in the offices of the New York Journal and the Chicago American. The surging, tossing, cheering multitude of 199,000 which halled the entrance of Mr. W. R. Hearst into this city Wednesday after noon was a sight denied to the vision of Journal representatives. Indeed, the Journal has been rash enough to assert that Mr. Hearst did not come to Indianapolis at all-despite the statement of his official organ that he did. AN EXPLANATION.

W. P. Anderson, who holds the exalted position of assistant city editor of the New York Journal, was seen by a representative of the Indianapolis Journal in the lobby of the Grand Hotel Thursday night and asked for an explanation of the paradoxical statement in the Chicago American of the night previous-that Mr. Hearst was in this city Wednesday afternoon. Mr. Anderson was evidently under the dreamy spell of Bourke Cockran's florid oratory, since he made admissions which were very foolish, to say the least of them. "You see," said Mr. Anderson, "that Mr. Hearst's men who were here on the ground had to get a lot of 'copy' to Chicago in double-quick time for Wednesday evening's paper and they proceeded on the assumption that Mr. Hearst would be here, and accordingly wrote the story as if he were already in the city. That is how it happened." When the suggestion was made to Mr. Anderson that the men in the American office in Chicago must have known that Mr. Hearst was not in Indianapolis and they should have "killed" the story, the young man merely shrugged his shoulders and said: "I don't know why they didn't." Indianapolis people who are lacking in discretion and in proper appreciation of true greatness are trying to claim the credit of saving Mr. Hearst's convention from absolute failure. They ruthlessly point to the official figures given out by the railroad companies, showing that the number of visitors to the city Tuesday, Wednesday and Thursday did not exceed crowd was made up of local people. HE MAY RETALIATE. The slight which has been put upon the

A sample of these superior animals may be seen in the show window of Mr. C. H. Meikel, the popular Plumber, on Pennsylvania street, opposite the Grand Opera House. changing the place of holding his conven-tion in the future. In fact, it may be stated as a verity that Hearst positively will not allow his "little boys" to play in the "back yard" of Indiana's capital, for his personal representative, Mr. Anderson, declared Thursday night that "Mr. Hearst does not think much of Indianapolis." The slight put upon the city by the redoubtable James Creelman last August might have been borne and, in time, forgotten, but with this latest crushing blow added it is feared that the proud capital city of this great State will have to hang her head in shame. When Mr. Creelman visited Indianapolis the 8th of last August to help Mr. Bryan to be notified of his nomination to the presidential office, he was, by some the tention of the tention to give it the tention of the te presidential office, he was, by some un-accountable oversight, given a room with-out a bath at the Grand Hotel. This crowning insult to the dignity of the man who brought on a bloody war at his master's behest was not to be borne. "If I ever come to Indianapolis again," said Creelman, "which is very doubtful, I certainly will not stop at the Grand Hotel." The city is truly in a condition to be pitied, having incurred the displeasure of two

The Selection of a Trustee

The popular tendency toward the Trust Company as a trustee is easily found when comparisons are drawn. Every one has knowledge of an individual trustee who has defaulted and robbed those whom he was appointed to protect. No such experience ever followed the ap-pointment of a trust company to any such responsibilities. If any trust be committed to an individual there is no will enable him to give it the proper attention. Unexpected mental derangements may come to him, and if in health he will need recreation, or he may have business of his own that takes him away from home at a time when the interests of the trust demand his presence The Trust Company never dies; it never absconds; it is never away on vacation; it is never sick; it is always at home, and its existence is not affected by "war, pestilence or famine." Above all, it is always responsible, and has an invaluable reputation which its managers are ever zealous to protect and enhance.
